I really loved the game! The atmosphere was great and I really liked the art style, felt very unique. The lantern's radius also created a lot of suspense as I was exploring and the background sounds and music really added to the suspense and creepy factor in the various locations. I loved theorizing about the story and what everything meant as I went (All of my theories were wrong by the end though haha).

The English translations could have had better grammar but I still found it easy to understand what everything was trying to say so this wasn't a big deal to me. Using the stairs in the storehouse however can be a bit tough, and it took me a few tries moving back and forth pressing and holding z to get it to work but it eventually did, if anything that would be my only real gripe.

Overall this was a great and very enjoyable experience and I highly recommend it!
